

People On The Move

Thomas Gilmartin, has been named chief administrative officer at The Jewish Home and Hospital Lifecare System, where he will provide direct supervision of various departments and activities including finance, materials management, information technology, risk management, and legal matters. He will also oversee the financial and related administrative aspects of the system's operation. Gilmartin's background in health care and finance includes six years as senior vice president at Visiting Nurse Regional Health Care System, in Brooklyn, N.Y., where he also served as chief financial officer and was then promoted to chief operating officer.

Sister Bridget Haase, coordinator of the spirituality and wellness program at The Boston Home in Dorchester, Mass., a long term care facility for adults with physical disabilities, primarily multiple sclerosis and related neurological diseases, was recently awarded the Sabbatical Grant for Pastoral Leaders program by the Louisville Institute. Haase was included among this year's recipients for her project entitled: God Passing by: Scripture, Storytelling, and Sabbath. The grant will allow her to take eight weeks of retreat at Genesis Spiritual Life Center in Westfield, Mass., this July and August. The grant offers clergy a chance to devote themselves to prayer, study, and reflection on their vocations and ministries. Prior to joining The Boston Home, Haase served as a volunteer for more than three years. Her ministry has included HIV/AIDS day care in Dedham; reading instruction to challenged students; education and social service in Appalachia, Mexico, and West Africa; and feeding children of the famine in the desert of East Africa.
